A Message from the Vice President for Human Resources

Dear Colleagues:

The Division of Human Resources is pleased to present the Professional Development catalog of courses and seminars to assist you in developing your career with Rensselaer. Whether you are new to your career level or a more seasoned professional, there are courses and workshops available that are designed to provide value in building a career path for future success.

With more than 50 program presentations to choose from, you’re sure to find a learning opportunity that meets your professional need and job level. The presentations are more than just a lecture-each presentation is designed to be interactive with techniques and tools to provide an effective transfer of knowledge for the adult learner.

Regards,
Curtis N. Powell, SPHR
