ALUMNI RELATIONS

Dear Senior –

Welcome to Rensselaer Magazine!

And welcome to the Rensselaer Alumni Association! Did you know that you are already a member? And that as a member, you'll receive this publication four times per year from now on?

THE RENSSELAER ALUMNI NETWORK

If you're looking for a job, career advice, or professional contacts, close to 90,000 alumni worldwide stand ready to help. Rensselaer magazine has information that will help you tap into the network. Look for these programs:

- Affinity groups, which connect graduates with similar professional interests
- Regional chapters host programs with social, educational, and career components
- The Young Alumni Council (YAC) plans events and services specifically for young alumni
- On-campus events, such as conferences, seminars, and programs like Homecoming and Reunion

Visit the network online at www.alumni.rpi.edu, and sign up for @RPInet, the alumni Web community. If you don't have it already, get your free E-mail for Life forwarding address.

STAY CONNECTED

Rensselaer keeps you current with campus news and research highlights, and with classmates and friends through "Class Notes." You'll also find ways to stay involved and to give back to Rensselaer through volunteer opportunities and by supporting current students through your gift to the Annual Fund.

Don't miss out: update your address with Rensselaer when you're settled into your new home. It's easy to do it online at the alumni Web site at www.alumni.rpi.edu/intouch.

Contact Alumni Relations at alumni@rpi.edu or (518) 276-6205 for more information. I look forward to seeing you at an upcoming alumni event!

Sincerely,
